POST CARD

(PRINCIPLE)

There is a conversation between humans and architecture. I would like to design architecture to enable a positive conversation. For that the reason, it is important to create the relationship between the deep psyche and architecture. The design concept can be created from the relationship. This is how I transform the deep psyche into architecture as reality. There are fertile hints for design in the creation of a collage. My architectural design is to feel a collage ,to analyze a collage , and to transform that collage into architecture. In this exhibition, I show the collages by users and the resulting architecture from the collages. It is my hope that everyone will enjoy my transformations from the collages into the architecture.
